Becker Meisel Completes $4 Million Deal for Archive Systems

Livingston, N.J., June 21, 2010 – The law firm of Becker Meisel announced that it has completed a $4,000,000 senior subordinated financing transaction on behalf of Archive Systems, Inc.

The lender is NewSpring Mezzanine Capital, L.P. (NewSpring).

Archive Systems, the Fairfield-based provider of on-demand document and records management services and accounts payable information services to customers such as Avon, Ann Taylor, Mercedes-Benz, and Hackensack University Medical Center, sought the loan in anticipation of technological as well as physical plant expansion.

According to Becker Meisel attorney Ivan Kaplan who heads the firm's Finance and Transactional Department, "We are extremely pleased that Archive Systems selected our firm to represent it during what continues to be a challenging borrowing environment."

Becker Meisel is a mid-market firm serving the New York, New Jersey and Philadelphia corridor. The firm provides litigation, transactional, counseling and regulatory representation to clients ranging from major multi-national corporations to local businesses, families and individuals.
